GVISION Announces GForce Partner Program

Program Supports VARs & Resellers and Strengthens Overall Commitment to the Channel

Lake Forest, CA (September 23, 2005) – GVISION USA Inc., a leading manufacturer of specialty LCD displays today announced its new partner program, GForce, created to build and support the VAR & reseller community. The major thrust of GForce is to provide our partners with the information, tools, and knowledge necessary to address the market's LCD requirements. The broadest product line in LCD Displays, with over 100 models, GVISION provides display solutions to the POS, Medical, Industrial and Public Display vertical markets.

LCD monitors are the display of choice for most of today's technology solutions and VARs need to match the proper display characteristics to the opportunity. GVISION is raising the bar on its commitment to the channel and GForce is designed to help partners secure business profitability by offering their customers the best solutions required for a variety of vertical applications. Officially announced at BlueStar's VARTECH 2005 Conference, the program will increase communications between GVISION and their many VARs and resellers. The GForce program is uniquely suited to help partners develop revenue opportunities, secure new business and increase overall profitability.

"GForce is all about optimizing our partner relationships and driving more business through the channel," explains Bruce Mesnard, manager of business development for GVISION USA, Inc. "We are committed to further developing our reseller base and increasing support across the board. We want GForce to help our customers impact the market." After signing up, partners will have access to a secure website that will include GVISION content, sales tools, joint collateral, lead sharing, opportunity management and special promotional activities.
